3.3 Volunteer Stories

66% of Volunteers reported increased confidence in their own abilities following volunteering and 66% reported a sense an increased sense of belonging in their community.

Cyril

Cyril is a Tonoglese national, a former professional soccer player and student who moved to Castlebar in 2016. He described himself as a little bit shy but always had an interest in volunteering in his home country.

Following his registration with Mayo Volunteer Centre, he now works as a volunteer in Western Alzheimers once or twice a week. He says he has learned new skills there, but more importantly feels more confident and is better able to mix with people since starting to volunteer.

46% Reported an increased wellbeing because of volunteering..

Nellie

After Nellie became a widow, she said she felt like she needed something to get her out of the house. She saw an advert that Mayo Volunteer Centre would be coming to do an outreach event in Westport and went along.

This resulted in her becoming involved in a homework club in Westport Community & Family Resource centre.

She says it has given her "a bit of a lift". She finds working with children great fun, and that their energy gives her energy.
